

THE PRICES SHOT UPWARD

The Market Proved Strong in the Face of Very Adverse Conditions.

STOCKS OF THE GOULDS

They Were Conspicuous in the Day's Trading—The Bond Market Was Steady.

(By Associated Press.)
NEW YORK, August 24.—In the face of conditions, which, ordinarily make for lower prices, such as increased excitement in the commodity markets, a further strain in the local labor troubles and selling by London on the international political situation, to-day's stock market showed a general tendency toward higher prices.

Union Pacific and Southern Pacific were among the early features by reason of their strength, but their rise failed to stimulate any immediate response, and the market hung back. Then the Goulds, which had been the mainstay of the market, came to the front, and a general advance in many of the industrial and miscellaneous issues, Amalgamated Copper, Smelting, Sugar, Consolidated Gas and Brooklyn Rapid Transit all moved up, but the improved tone, while well maintained, failed to bring any real demand.

The strength of Gould stocks was accompanied by reports of prospective buyers, but in more conservative quarters there was a disposition to look upon the movement as a pool character. Selling was taken by houses with Philadelphia connections, and Southern Railway was strong, and active trading in the Goulds, and in the latter part of the day, the market for the Goulds, chiefly Reading and Erie, was dull and restricted, and while traders seemed less inclined to take a bullish view it was clear that little stock had come into the market since the last hour and there was an increased demand for the Goulds, chiefly Reading and Erie.

To-day's market for bonds was steady. Total sales stocks, par value, $2,626,000. The total sales of stocks for the day were 487,300 shares.
